

Choices and Have-To-Dos At School

A Social Story

By: Deidre Erlenborn Dobbels, M.S. CCC-SLP

A choice is a decision that I get to make.
I might make a choice about which chair I want to sit in when I get to school.

At school, there are times that I can make decisions, and other times that are Have To Dos.

A Have To Do is something that I must do. I have to wash my hands with my class each day.

I might make choices about what friend I want to play with, what choice area to play with, and what book I want to read in library.

Some things that I Have To Do at school are: sit in my chair, listen to my teacher, and play and have fun.

My teacher will help me remember when something is a choice and when it is a Have To Do.

When I make choices, and do all of my Have To Dos, my teacher is happy. It makes me happy too.
